AEROSPACE AND DEFENCE THIS CITY WORKS FOR YOU

Africa's largest aerospace, defence, and security exhibition is taking place in what many have called the world's most beautiful city. Africa Aerospace & Defence – AAD 2010– will be held in Cape Town from 21-25 September 2010.

Air Force Base Ysterplaat, against the backdrop of Table Mountain, will provide the setting for the only exposition of its sort in Africa and will feature more than 400 exhibitors from at least 25 countries.

All of the major suppliers of civil and military aerospace, defence, and security equipment to the South African government will be represented in Cape Town by top ranking executives.

It's an innovative and expanded showcase for local, regional and global exhibitors who supply civil, military and security products, systems, components and services to customers in Africa and around the world.

AAD 2010 will feature three trade days and two public days. The public days will feature an air show with some of the world's most advanced aircraft.

Exhibitors from industrialised countries as well as the emerging markets will ensure an unparalleled diversity of product systems and a vast array of newly developed technologies.

We welcome you to visit us at our Stand 6N3, Hall 6 where we will be showcasing the latest additions to our product range and will be available to discuss the solutions and services that our company has to offer. We are proud to be part of the largest exhibition of air, sea and land defence capability on the African continent.

We look forward to meeting you there.
